No. 1.

A familiar walk

Greetings to Our Readers

By means of this monthly publication The Anderson Seminary establishes a line of direct communication with all those who are interested in the educational phase of the church. Heretofore there has been no satisfactory means of direct communication and it is hoped that the establishment of this paper will solve the problem.

Personal Mention

Professor Martin held a successful revival in Rev. Dallas' congregation in North Anderson, recently.

Work on the new catalog is being rushed to completion. It will most likely be ready to mail out by the latter part of April.

M. C. Cheatham's son is in Texas for his health. It is hoped that this young man will find a place where he can enjoy perfect health.

R. L. Berry, Associate Editor of the Gospel Trumpet, and one of the trustees of the Seminary, spoke in the Student's Young People's Meeting recently.

D. W. Patterson, General Manager of the Gospel Trumpet Co., gave a good talk on the value of athletics at one of the chapel periods last week.

No doubt Archie Grice will find attendance at the Gym quite slim now that spring has come. Tennis and base ball will probably make big inroads in ordinary gymnastics.

Some students would probably forget that Earnest, the janitor, was around were it not for his melodious voice ringing through the halls about six o'clock each morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Hall recently made a non-stop run to Oklahoma to the bedside of Mrs. Hall's mother, who was critically ill. They are back in school now, and Mrs. Hall says that her mother is better.

Miss Stella Weigel, former matron, is in Omaha, Neb. It is said that she is very busy in Church Extension work and with her studies. It is understood that she is also taking training as a nurse.

Group prayer-meetings are held by students in both the boys' and girls' dormitories different evenings throughout the week. These prayer-meetings are well attended and much spiritual good results.

Rev. S. P. Dunn of Chicago, Trustee of the Seminary, spoke to the students in chapel recently. His subject was "Go Forward." Rev. Dunn believes in doing big things and he practises what he preaches.

Rev. W. T. Wallace, pastor of a congregation in Louisville, Ky., and president of the Winchester Academy, spent a few hours in the school last week. Rev. Wallace was accompanied by Dean Horton of the Winchester Academy.

The boys, led by Virgil Johnson, President of the Tennis Association, are working like Trojans getting the tennis courts in shape. It is hoped that a greater number of students will play tennis this year than have in the years past.

Professor and Mrs. Sherwood recently paid a visit to some of their old friends at Athens, Ohio. Some of them evidently lived on the farm, judging from the good eatables which the Sherwoods brought back.

Mrs. Bosworth favored the students with a splendid solo at one of the chapel services recently. Mrs. Bosworth has a beautiful voice and is using it for the glory of God. She was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Alvin Roper, nationally known pianist.

"The thoughts of youth are long, long, thoughts." The thoughts of the Dean are heavy, heavy, thoughts. Recently, while sitting at his desk, pondering some of the weightier matters, the Dean's chair collapsed and gave him a seat on the floor.

The Missionary Prayer Band, led by Burd R. Barwick, returned missionary to India, has its weekly meetings each Monday evening. William Parkinson, traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement of America, was a recent speaker in one of these meetings.

Professor Clausen was in Springfield, Ohio, recently, assisting Rev. C. E. Byers in an evangelistic campaign. From the reports received, they surely are stirring up things in Springfield. Professor Clausen's classes were taken care of by Miss Esther Laucamp during his absence.

Rev. C. E. Simerly says he has a modern four-room cottage with bath and other conveniences, located on the camp-ground, which he wishes to sell due to the fact that this is his last year in school. This will be a good buy for couple who plan to enter school but wish to live outside the dormitory.

Word has just been received of the death of two of Rev. J. C. Thompson's little daughters, who were drowned while skating on the ice. Students and faculty extend to Rev. and Mrs. Thompson their sincere sympathy, and request that every one who reads this will remember the bereaved family in prayer.

Rev. Ralph Poole recently paid the school a visit which lasted for several days. While here, Rev. Poole gave a most inspiring talk in Chapel, and a number of them in the lobby. It is always a pleasure to see Ralph's smiling face illuminating the corridors. We might note here that before he left, he brought his subscription to "The Broadcaster."

Elva Wilson, accompanied by her sister, is here on a visit. Elva will get her old job back next week, and her sister, Gladys, is working a week or so helping the managing editor get the mailing list worked up. The Misses Wilson are welcomed and it is hoped that they can find work enough to justify their staying in Anderson until school opens in September, when they expect to enter.

The Dramatic Club gave Dickens' "Christmas Carol" at Christmas time. The performance was well attended by students, faculty, and outside folks. It so pleased Rev. A. T. Rowe of Atlanta, Ga., that he presented an extra dollar to the treasurer after the play was over. The officers of this society are: John Lackey, president; Albert Donaldson, vice-president; Gladys Byard, secretary-treasurer; and Daisy Keller, chairman of the program committee.

Mrs. Bowser, the matron, says, "One is made to think of the confusion at the tower of Babel when he hears the distressing sounds coming from the different rooms—a piano solo in one key; voicing in many keys; quartets and duets; violin and clarinet solos, each with a different tune. We sometimes wonder if any good thing can come out of it. But when we go to chapel and hear the good spiritual songs, and instrumental music, we feel well repaid for the torture we have undergone."

Trumpets

Through the generosity of the Gospel Trumpet Company's management every student in the dormitories has a Gospel Trumpet placed weekly at the door of his room. A number of the Trumpets are also placed on the reading tables. Seminary students appreciate the Gospel Trumpet and are urged to be loyal to it, not only while in school but when they go into their fields of labor.

GREETINGS

And now in the month of April, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and twenty-nine, appears "The Broadcaster," Volume One, Number One. It comes as the spokesman and official organ of Anderson Bible School and Seminary, and from the school it brings you most cordial greetings.

Greetings to the Preachers

We are sending this first issue of "The Broadcaster" to the preachers whose names appear in the Year Book. We believe it will be a most welcome visitor to your desk. Through the years, Anderson Seminary has been a staunch friend to the preachers of the Church of God, and we believe that the friendship has been mutual. Anderson Seminary was created by the preachers; she is supported by the preachers; she is controlled by the preachers; their message is her message, and their success is her success. It is hoped that every preacher will become a regular reader of "The Broadcaster."

Greetings to Our Alumni

Greetings to our Alumni and former students, five hundred strong. To these hundreds of former students, "The Broadcaster" will come like a long, loving letter from home. No one knows Anderson as her Alumni do. No one knows her needs, her burdens, her trials, her hopes, her longings, as those who have gone up and down through her halls, who have taken part in her heart-warming chapel services, who have attended her classes, who have strolled about her campus, who have been inspired at her altars of prayer. From the sunny coast of California to the wooded hills of Maine, from the snowy plains of Canada to the balmy coasts of the Gulf, our Alumni labor. I have met them here and there; some in prosperity, some in poverty; some in success, some in failure; some in groups, some alone; some laymen, more preachers; but all endeavoring by word of mouth and deed of life to uphold the spiritual standards that were emphasized during their attendance at Anderson.

We believe that no alumnus will even think of his reading menu as being complete without this monthly morsel from home.

Greetings to Prospective Students

This initial number of "The Broadcaster" is going with our greetings to several hundreds of young people who have written us of their plans and their hopes of attending the Seminary. Many of these are young ministers, and others who, being interested in various lines of Christian work, are considering Anderson's strong theological courses. Many are high school students and high school graduates who have in mind to do their college work at Anderson. All of these will want to keep in touch with what is going on at Anderson between this time and the time when they are actually enrolled. "The Broadcaster" will carry all the news.

Greetings to Donors

When a donation, large or small, is made to Anderson Seminary we are not so taken up with the donation that we forget the donor. We have in our files the names of hundreds of the school's friends who have sent us offerings in the past. Most of these are persons who in the true spirit of Christian sacrifice have sent an offering. Some have sent even as little as twenty-five cents. But it is the spirit of the giver and not the gift, that counts in the work of the Kingdom. We are glad to send Volume One, Number One of "The Broadcaster" to those who have remembered the School with an offering.

Let me end this editorial by saying that we bespeak for "The Broadcaster" a large circulation among the friends of the School. They will subscribe, not because we will beg them to subscribe, but because we plan to make the paper so worthwhile that they will want to subscribe. "The Broadcaster" has come to stay. It is not an experiment, because we have carefully analyzed the situation and are putting the paper on a permanent basis. Let no one subscribe for the paper out of charity. When you pay a dollar for a year's subscription we pledge to give you one hundred cents' worth of reading.

"The Broadcaster" will spend itself mainly for the interests of Anderson Seminary, but in a general way it will be a staunch supporter of all the various interests of the reformation work. It will stand by the Missionary Board, the Church Extension Board, our Sunday-school work, the Gospel Trumpet, and all the general interests of our church work. It hopes to be spicy without being frivolous; deep without being dry; religious without being sanctimonious; intellectual without being "highbrowish."

—J. A. M.

WE'VE STARTED IT!

We wish to acknowledge the enthusiastic manner in which every one to whom we spoke concerning the proposed school paper received the proposal, and also the splendid cooperation which you have given in getting this first issue off the press and in the mail. I have never worked with a more loyal group of people than the present student body, faculty members, and the Alumni with whom I have been associated in getting this paper started. You know it is easy to start off with a flash and die a quick death. But such shall not be the fate of this school paper. We must see to it that every edition is worth the price of a year's subscription. We can do this if each of our readers will give 100% support to this undertaking.

We expect to have a bouquet column in this paper where we will not only print the good things that are said about the paper, but will also print the criticisms we get; however we shall not tell who gave them, so come on with your suggestions for a better school paper. We assure you that we shall not take offense to your suggestions, but shall always conscientiously strive to profit by every one of them. This is YOUR paper and it will be YOUR fault if it is not what you want it to be.

—E. S. R.

The male quartet composed of: Frank Towers, first tenor; Earl Wells, second tenor; Streeter Stuart, baritone; and Oral Clemens, bass; has been kept busy this school year broadcasting, singing in out-of-town congregations, and singing at other congregations than our own here in the city.

ANDERSONIANS CARRY OFF BANNER

The Student Volunteer Movement comprised of delegates representing various colleges and seminaries of the State of Indiana convened at Manchester College of North Manchester, Ind., March 1, 2, and 3, 1929.

Anderson Seminary had the distinction of having the largest delegation—about thirty students—present. They also had the distinction of bearing home the fine large banner containing the words—"Indiana Student Volunteer Union," which was offered as a prize to the school earning the highest number of points in an intercollegiate reading contest. This banner is to be held by the winning school, for the ensuing year following each annual contest, and the institution which wins it for three consecutive years becomes its permanent possessor.

Eugene S. Reynolds, Managing Editor of "The Broadcaster," was elected Deputation Secretary for the State of Indiana.

The delegates sent by the Anderson Bible School and Seminary were as follows:

Miss Burd Barwick, Miss Gladys Byard, Mrs. Edith Butler, Mr. Ralph Benson, Mr. George Cooper, Miss Madeline De Bie, Miss Victoria Brecken, Mr. Henry Portinga, Mr. Ira J. Masters, Miss Pearl Lewis, Miss Edna Price, Miss Ella Hahn, Mr. Paul Porter, Mr. Hazen Fausnight, Miss Belle Harris, Miss Bernice Miller, Miss Melba Murphy, Miss Ruth Hobbs, Miss Grace Torgerson, Mr. John Neuhaus, Mr. Hubert Irons, Miss Helen Hansen, Mr. Sheldon Helms, Mrs. Sheldon Helms, Miss Florence Nichols, Mr. Foster Elliot, Mr. E. W. Barnett.

25 Thousand In 25 Minutes

The students in Anderson Seminary as a rule are not rich as the world counts riches. The faculty members teach for love of their work and not for the love of the money they receive for their work. Our professors' salaries are smaller than the average salaries of our successful pastors in the field. But notwithstanding all this, when the President placed the matter of our great endowment campaign before students and faculty the other morning in chapel they pledged $25,000 in twenty-five minutes. The largest pledge from a faculty member was $2,000 and the smallest $200. The largest pledge from a student was $300 and the smallest $50. Thirty-five students pledged $200 each. Seventy-five students pledged $100 each. We may publish names of donors in "The Broadcaster" later. Alumni are asked not to send their pledges until we explain to them our special plan for alumni pledges. Alumni will hear from the Seminary office as to details of the plan within a short time.

Plato a Brilliant Man

President Morrison—John, how did you like that biography of Plato?

John Neuhaus—Fine! You know that fellow Plato has some of my ideas.

Leave It to Mrs. Byrum

Mrs. Byrum—How do you like your new missions text book?

Student—I think that the author is dumb.

Mrs. Byrum—Perhaps it isn't the author.

Her Delicacy of Discrimination Needs Adjustment

At dinner table:

Daisy Keller—These parsnips surely are fine.

Lura Reynolds—Are they parsnips? I thought they were sweet potatoes.

An Urgent Case

Helen Hansen read in a paper that fish was an excellent brain food. As a result she wrote the editor of said paper as follows:

"Dear Sir: Seeing as you say how fish is good for the brains, what kind of fish shall I eat?"

To this the editor replied:

"Dear Miss Hansen: Judging from the letter you wrote, I should advise you to eat a whale."

Mrs. Eunice M. Morrison

Miss Reba Roop

THEY NAMED IT

The name for "The Broadcaster" was selected on this wise: The matter was placed before the students and faculty in chapel and all were asked to submit names which they thought would be suitable for the new paper. Some fifty names were proposed. The Editors and the Seminary Executive Committee then decided which name would be most suitable. Mrs. Eunice M. Morrison, wife of the President, suggested "A. B. S. Broadcaster." Miss Reba Roop, a sophomore, suggested "Seminary Broadcaster." The Committee and the Editors agreed upon "The Broadcaster."

COMMENCEMENT

The annual commencement exercises of Anderson Seminary will be held this year on Friday, June 14, 1929. There will be two things different. It is on Friday. This is the day before the great camp-meeting opens. Heretofore commencement was held several days before the opening of camp-meeting. Hundreds of camp-meeting guests will now reach Anderson in time to get the inspiration of the Commencement. Second, this difference in time necessitates the second difference which is a difference in place. Park Place Church is big but not big enough to accommodate the host of people who will be here for commencement this year. The Old Auditorium on the camp-ground with a seating capacity of 2,000 will be the scene of this year's Commencement exercises. If you want a seat come early. More details in the May issue of The Broadcaster.

Some One Blundered

Elsie—John, how many orders have the Blues?

John—I don't know.

Elsie—Do you think the Blues will win?

John—I don't know.

Elsie—When does the contest close?

John—I don't know.

Elsie—I wonder how you came to be editor.

ANDERSON TAKES GREAT STEP FORWARD

Board In Special Meeting Launches Drive for $500,000

On February 26th the Board of Trustees of Anderson Seminary met in special meeting in the Seminary reception room and unanimously passed the following resolution:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The Ministerial Assembly voted last June to establish college courses in the Seminary, and

WHEREAS, A college in order to be accredited must be endowed, and a Seminary in order to be properly financed should be endowed, and

WHEREAS, In order to cooperate with other phases of the church's work it is necessary to get any endowment campaign which it may make out of the way by 1930, and

WHEREAS, The school will need to be accredited by 1932 when we graduate our first A.B. class, and

WHEREAS, More than 100 leading ministers have expressed approval of an endowment campaign, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Seminary launch a campaign to raise an endowment fund of $500,000, and that the officials of the school be instructed to proceed along these lines:

1. Secure pledges from faculty members, student body, alumni and former students, and other special friends of the School, to the sum of $100,000 payable in five years from October 1, 1929.

2. Secure the interest of the citizens of Anderson with the end in view of putting on a local campaign for the amount of $200,000 payable in three years from October 1, 1929, at about which date the campaign is to begin in Anderson.

3. Secure the services of a fund raising concern approved by the Executive Committee.

4. Begin at once to create sentiment in favor of such a campaign in the church by advertising in the Trumpet and otherwise, with the understanding that the campaign is to be put on in the general church about October 1, 1929 for the amount of $200,000 payable in three years from that date.

5. General solicitations, except Trumpet advertisements, to be withheld from Texas and the States bordering her. But persons, or special groups of persons in this territory may be solicited.

It will be noted in the above resolution that we are to ask

$100,000 From Faculty, Students, Alumni

One-fourth of this amount was raised the other morning in chapel by students and teachers. Alumni will be asked to do their part shortly. Be thinking it over in large terms until you hear of our plans.

$200,000 From Andersonians

We hope to get a campaign on in Anderson next October to raise $200,000. The School has the universal good will of the citizens of Anderson. Our bankers, merchants, factory executives, professional men, civic organizations, and city administration are with us. Almost daily we are in conference with these men planning for our drive next fall.

$200,000 From the Church

In a recent lengthy editorial entitled "The New College," the Anderson Herald says "What the Church of God starts, it always finishes." This gives an idea of how the Church of God is regarded here in the city which has been our headquarters for nearly a quarter of a century.

Can the church raise $200,000? Certainly. Next October this great campaign will be launched in the church.

The plan is to put on an extensive campaign in October, November and December and secure pledges extending over a period of three years. Every single member of the church except those living in the territory of Warner University will be solicited. The humblest, most obscure saint among us will be given the privilege to contribute his bit to this, the greatest project the reformation movement has ever undertaken.

It was a great move among us a few years ago when we laid our hand to the task of raising $100,000 and raised it. Under the able leadership of Dr. Smith and others we went over the "top."

There are many more of us now than there were then and we are better organized and our people are prosperous and they love this great cause of God even better than in 1918.

Let the church begin now to think and pray about this great forward move. Watch our literature for announcements.

With the Alumni

Grace (Phelps) Lumm

It may be that the news of a school paper comes as a surprise to some of the Alumni, but we feel that after you receive this first issue you will agree with us that it is a very pleasant surprise, and an adventure very much worthwhile. We feel that this is a move in the right direction. We are glad that a few columns have been given over to the activities of the Alumni Association. Each of us is glad to belong to so splendid a society of workmen of God, and each is glad to hear of the activities of the others. Many of us meet year after year at the International Camp-meeting. Others do not attend so often, but we are sure that all are glad to know of the doings of former classmates. So let's rally to the support of this school paper and cooperate with the Alumni officers in getting worthwhile material for this section of the paper.

Officers of the Alumni Association

At the last Alumni Meeting, held in June of 1928, the following officers were elected:

President, John Kane, class of '21. Vice-President, Elver Adcock, class of '21. Secretary-Treasurer, Helen (Rimke) James, class of '28. Alumni Editor, Grace (Phelps) Lumm, 'class of '20. Business Manager, Dan Ratzlaff, class of '24.

We might add in passing that the Alumni Banquet in 1928 was by far the best we have had. YOU WILL MISS SOMETHING IF YOU MISS THE BANQUET THIS YEAR!

Concerning the Alumni Echoes

With only a few subscriptions having come in and having no money left from last year, we were unable to print more than one issue of the Alumni Echoes. This issue cost approximately $18.00. As we have only a few dollars left in the treasury (not enough to print another issue), we have decided to temporarily discontinue the Alumni Echoes and to send the Broadcaster to the paid up subscribers until their subscriptions expire. If those who have paid their subscriptions since June, 1928, do not receive more than one issue of The Broadcaster, please let us know at once.

—D. E. Ratzlaff,
Business Manager

The Alumni Echoes Staff

Editor in Chief, Grace (Phelps) Lumm, '20.

Associate Editor, Eunice Cortner, '24.

Society Editor, Elver Adcock, '21. News Editor, Amy Philips, '20.

Business Manager, D. E. Ratzlaff, '24.

Altho the Alumni Echoes is temporarily discontinued, its Editor-in-Chief has been retained as Alumni Editor for The Broadcaster. It is the wish of the Editor to retain the former staff to assist in collecting and preparing the material for the department in The Broadcaster.

Concerning a Roll Call

We should like very much to have a roll call in our section of The Broadcaster at an early date. Will each Alumnus let us know where you are and what you are doing? Sit down now and write us giving us the news of yourself and any other Alumnus whom you may know. All together now and let's make this section of the paper worthwhile.

The Endowment Fund

We shall not give in this department a detailed explanation of the endowment fund, but we wish to call your attention to what is being said about it elsewhere in this paper. Here is our chance, fellow classmates, to show our appreciation of our Alma Mater, as well as to give the young people of the present, and the children we are now teaching in Sunday School opportunity to broaden and deepen their lives far beyond what we have been able to do. Let us not fail our School when there is so much at stake. WE WILL NOT FAIL! Ours is a Society with a vision!

The Degree Class

The class this year is small, but who shall say that it is not mighty? It is quite significant that all the members, save one, are members of the Alumni Society. They have organized themselves as follows:

Walter Haldeman, President, '24. Walter Owen, Vice-President, '29. Pearl Lewis, Secretary-Treasurer, '26.

Florence Nichols, Class Editor, '26.

Other members of the class are: Eunice Cortner, '24; Susie Marti, '26; Glen Marshal, '28.

Cupid's Doings

Robert Loudermilk, '26, found that Missouri produced some good people so he went down and took unto himself a bride and brought her to school with him this year.

Miss Esther Elsaser, former faculty member, became Mrs. Forest Weir in the Spring of 1928 in New York City. Many will remember Forest as a congenial classmate and Mrs. Forest as a splendid teacher.

Mr. Solomon Popp, of Colorado, '28, and Miss Gertrude Springer, of Chicago, '28, were married at the home of the bride, last summer and are now doing successful gospel work in Canada.

Mr. John Lackey, a prospective Alumnus of '29, and Miss Elsie Patterson, '28, were married at the bride's home in Anderson in September. John is attending school and Elsie is working at the Gospel Trumpet Office.

Mr. Carl Hagen, '24, returned to school with his bride of a few days in the fall of '28. We remember Mrs. Hagen as Lilly Hoffman.

Mr. Bert James, a future Alumnus, and Helen Rimke, '28, were married at the church in Joliet, Ill., last September. Mr. James is attending school and Mrs. James is employed by the Gospel Trumpet Company.

Luke Bennet, '24, visited school last spring. We heard later that he was married soon after leaving here.

Chester Egert, '22, escorted a fair lady about the camp grounds in 1928. We were informed that he was married last spring, but have not been able to ascertain any of the particulars.

Miss Esther Miller, '25, became Mrs. Sullivan Hyatt in January, 1929, in Atlanta, Ga. Esther has been in Atlanta nearly four years. Brother Rowe should experience no difficulty in getting girls to go to Atlanta.

Mr. Claire Beamer, '28, and Miss Grace Preston, a former student, were married at Professor Sherwood's new home on Dec. 24, 1928. They are now at the Winchester Academy in Winchester, Ky.

It has been reported that William Tubbs, '27, has consented to take unto himself a bride. For confirmation address him at: 303 State Street, Norton, Kan.

"We pledge our loyal support."
—B. E. Warren and Wife

"The Seminary must have endowment."—M. V. Cross, Pastor

If you were living in Anderson, you might be a little suspicious at seeing Florence Patterson, '25, appearing in public so often with a certain young man. He is not an Alumnus but he is a fine fellow.

Miss Julia Lindell, a former faculty member, became Mrs. Otto Linn at a pretty church wedding in Park Place Church in June of '28. Mr. and Mrs. Linn are attending college in Kansas.

Miss Dora Hoffman, '20, became Mrs. Cross, of Erie, Pa., about a year ago. Her husband is a railroad man of that city. She surprised us just before Christmas when she visited the office with a man whom she introduced as her husband.

Those who were absent from the Alumni Banquet last year, missed a grand surprise. It was time for the closing number, when several people moved simultaneously, Mrs. Bessie Byrum to an arch near the head of the table and Miss Lopez to the piano. The wedding march pealed forth and in walked the bridal party, Mr. Earl Johnson, '27, the groom, and Miss Mary Allport, '27, the bride. Everyone was pleasantly surprised and enjoyed the occasion to the full.

Phelps-Lumm Wedding

Only poets and humorists can well describe a wedding occasion. But neither Eddie Guest nor Will Rogers was present, so I am serving our reading public, in my weak way, with news of affairs nuptial as pertains to the Editor-in-Chief of the late Alumni Echoes (may it rest in peace). So it was. As the invited guests gathered at the home of the bride's parents there was much of gladness, and abundant good humor showed in greetings and friendly chatter in hall and reception room. There were relatives of both bride and groom, and friends gathered from distant places. There were many old friends of Anderson present, and it somehow reminded one of the older Gospel Trumpet Family days and the true pleasure of those older associations. Without question something of the past blessings of the home in which we were gathered helped to make up the pleasure of this hour.

It was Christmas Day. Wonderful setting for such an event! Just as others had given presents in token of remembrance and appreciation and love, here a fond father and mother were giving the hand of their only daughter in marriage. Congratulations, Mr. Lumm, on such a gift!

Professor Sherwood performed the ceremony, and the father of the bride, Rev. E. E. Byrum, and Dr. F. G. Smith gave readings and short talks. Professor Hartselle was at the piano and friends of the bride sang. It was indeed a beautiful ceremony.

We wish for Mr. and Mrs. Lumm a long, happy, and prosperous life.

WHAT PROMINENT MEN SAY ABOUT “THE KINGDOM OF SELFHOOD.”
Dr. John Paul, President of Taylor University—“The book contains the germ of a number of great sermons.”
Dr. F. M. Williams, Mayor of Anderson—“I have been reading your book with increasing interest.”

Rev. Sidney Powell, Pastor First Baptist Church, Anderson, Ind.—“It not only presents great subjects, but handles them in such a clear, interesting, and popular way as to make one hungry to finish the book at once.”
Dr. F. G. Smith, Editor of the Gospel Trumpet—“It is good literature, edifying and profitable to all who desire to read something really worthwhile.”

A CELESTIAL PILGRIMAGE, by R. L. Berry—Just the thing to get folks interested in their soul's welfare. You know R. L. Berry and his allegories. This is the crowning effort of all his allegorical writings—a story that is almost breath taking in places. Especially interesting for young people.
