"Now to Him who is able to do immeasurably more than all we ask or imagine, according to His power that is at work within us, to Him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, for ever and ever! Amen."

~Ephesians 3:20-21

Walk through The Valley, head over to the dorms for open house hours, go off campus for a glimpse of the "real world" and then return for a campus activity. No matter where you go or what you are doing, you are a part of this community. We are a whole, each bringing our own unique laugh, style and character to complete the picture of what Anderson Univerisity really is.

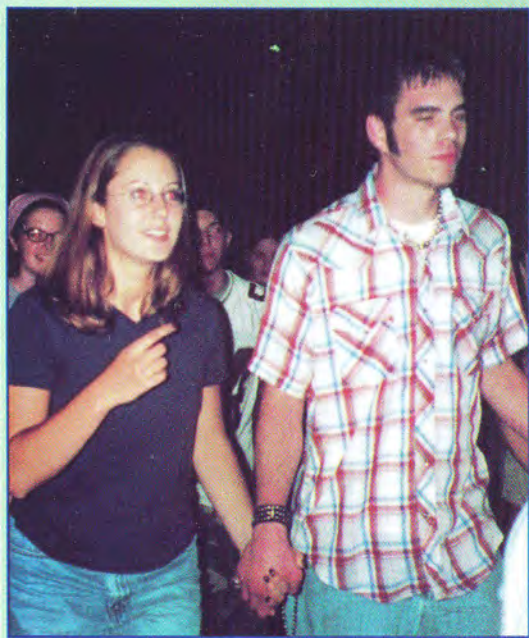

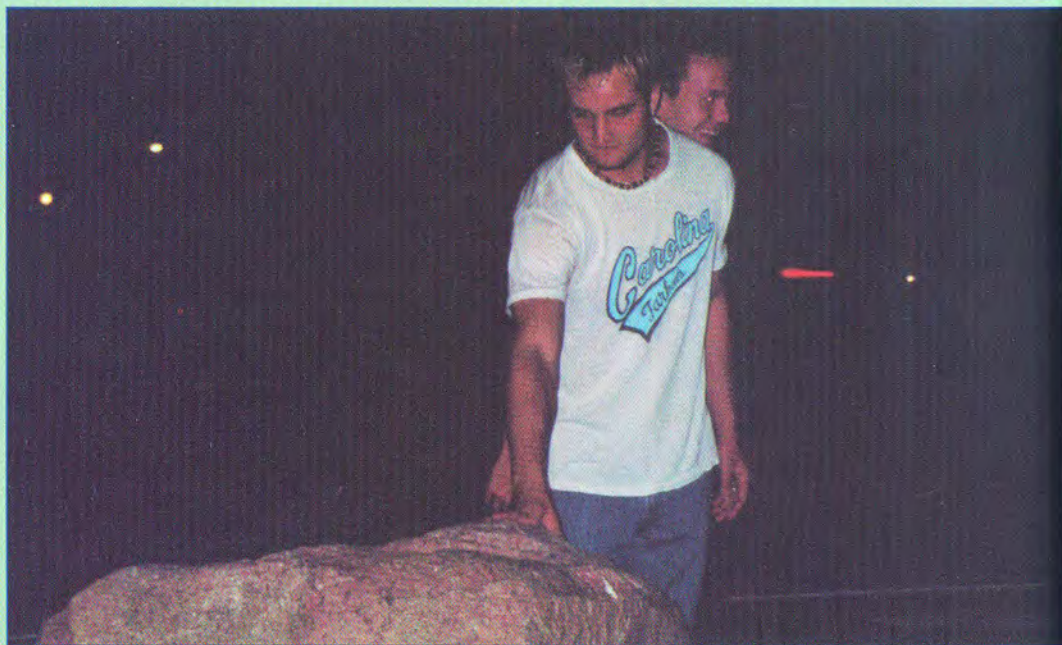

Home Away From Home

New Students get acquainted with their new surroundings during Orientation

Touching "The Rock" for luck has become a tradition for new students. Making sure he doesn't miss his chance, Austin Cobb tries to grab a little luck for the year. (Megan Golden)

Meet your mate! The Freshman Hike tradition continues as Jenna Deal and Andy Owens start up the library stairs and then around campus. (Megan Golden)

Each freshman entering Anderson University is placed in a family group. Group 18, (top to bottom) Jessica Krieger, Hillary Royer, Liz Maves, Charity Brewer, Austin Cobb, Megan Golden, Kim Kerr, Ben Archer-Patterson, Charis Solomon, Vinny Conant, Jeff Stafford, Jason Simpson, and Ryan Busboom, poses in front of the Kissinger Learning Center during the photo scavenger hunt. (photo courtesy of Sarah Nowlin)

New Student Orientation took place August 31 thru September 4, 2000.

Over 600 new students attended Orientation, which is put together by CAB.

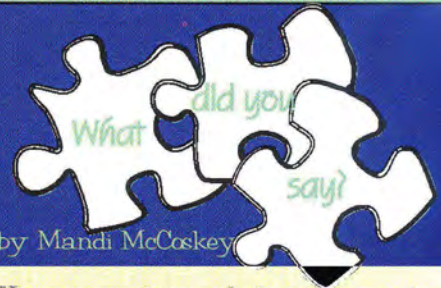

The theme for Orientation was "On Your Mark" (Hebrews 12:1).

by Mandi McCoskey

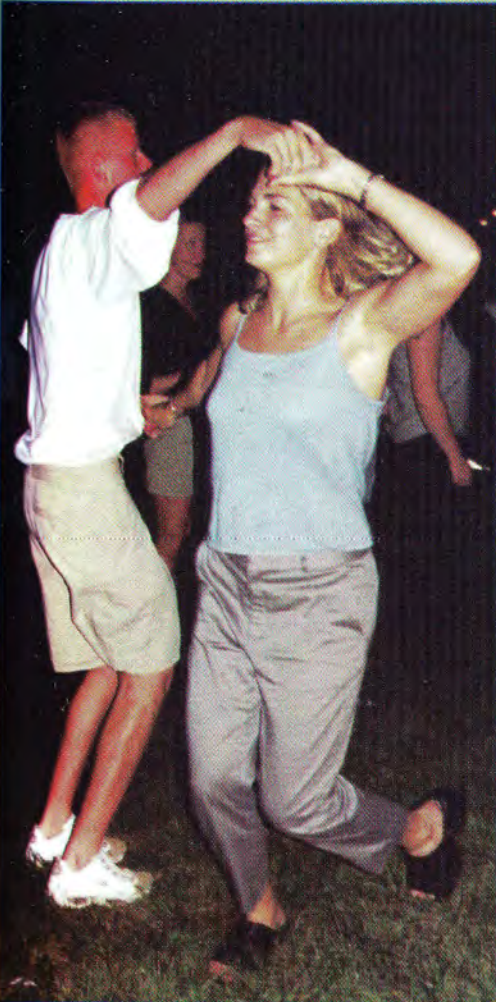

"I enjoyed breaking a sweat playing Armageddon."
Nicole Iden

"I thought family groups were good because they forced you to meet people."
Ryan Feuquay

"I liked the scavenger hunt and riding around in my group leader's truck."
Adam El Naggar

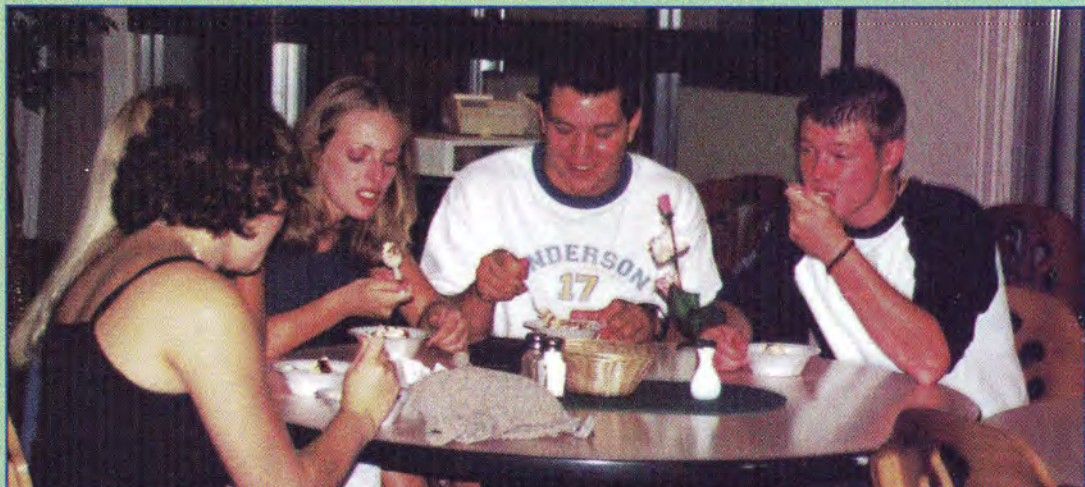

"Less lectures, more square dancing."
Austin Cobb

"Orientation felt like summer camp."

Emphasizing the Soul

Evangelist Brennan Manning leads the campus in a week of spiritual renewal

Making it personal, Manning signs a copy of his book for Jason Varner. (Chrissy Roberts)

Focusing on the Lord, these students worship during chapel on Tuesday, September 19. This was the first day that Manning spoke to the student body. (Chrissy Roberts)

Greeting the crowd with a "Hello," Manning spoke at 7 p.m. at Park Place Church of God. (Chrissy Roberts)

Spiritual Emphasis Week took place September 19 through September 23.

Campus Ministries coordinates Spiritual Emphasis Week.

Manning has been a full time evangelist since 1975.

During the opening of chapel, Sarah Moore spends time focusing on the Father during praise and worship. (Chrissy Roberts)

After purchasing one of his works, SuzAnne Bradaric waits for Manning to sign her copy. (Chrissy Roberts).

No, it's not John Wayne, but it is rushee Joe Wisley and his trusty sidekick! Stick 'em up for Novus Dux western day. (Megan Golden)

Time for a showdown! At high noon, the members of Novus Dux meet in the Valley to rid the campus of some unwanted bandits. (Megan Golden)

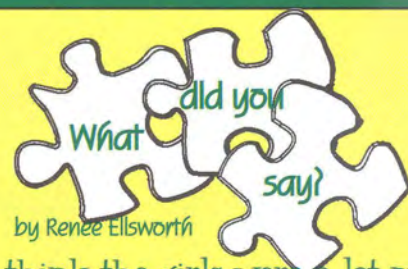

Social Club Interest Week began Sept. 5.

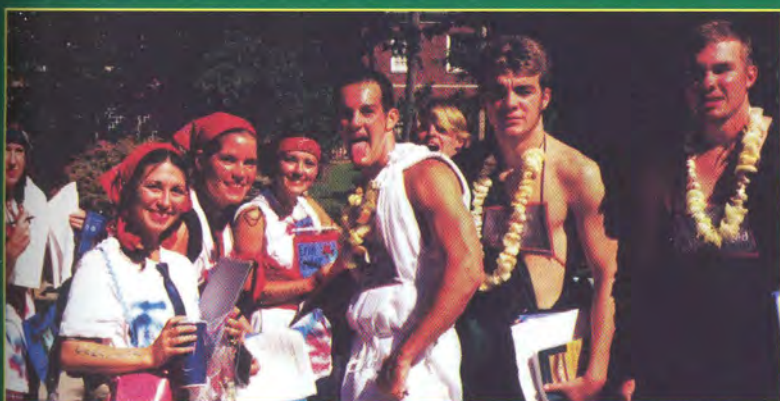

Rush Week began Wednesday, Sept. 13, and ended on Sunday, Sept. 17.

Dress-up days and evening activities kept rushees busy for the week.

There are 10 social clubs on campus.

"I think the girls were a lot more focused on Christ rather than 'beating each other down to build each other up.' That was not our goal this year."
Heather Dollens

"The biggest benefit of Rush Week was growing spiritually with other sisters in Christ."
Debra Mowery

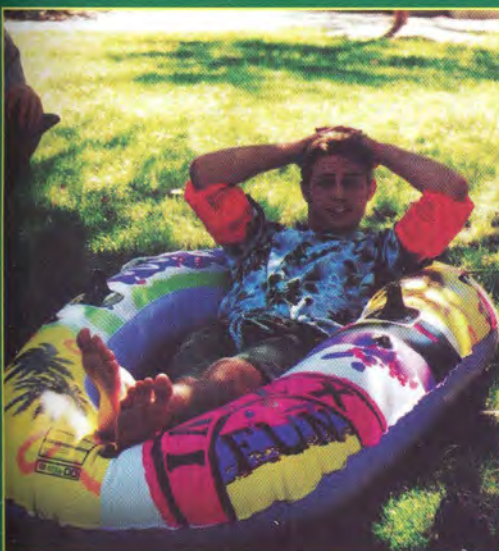

"I would get more cool outfits before Rush started if I could do it again."
Brian French

"We have 'brotherhood.' You'll be able to see a difference this year throughout our activities because we really mean it."
Greg Nicholson

What did you say?

by Megan Golden

"The Paramount was beautiful. It was the perfect place for the dance."
Suzanne Haberek

"I thought All-Club Formal was fun, but it was too small. There was not a lot of room to dance."
Brandi Holland

"We (the Morrison Hall staff) wanted to start a new tradition with an Upperclassmen Formal because Morrison is no longer a freshmen dorm, but we still like to have a good time."
Maegen Endert

Stage Presence

The Drama Department plays to the imagination

Peter Pan (Jon Lambert) tries to save the beloved Tinker Bell (Erin Gabrielson). (Chrissy Roberts)

Wrapped in forbidden love, the Drummer Boy (Kevin Hurley) holds the Princess (Jen Welsh). (Chrissy Roberts)

Picking the flowers, the maidens sing during The Gondoliers. (Chrissy Roberts)

Tiger Lilly (Leah Wood) is captured by Captain Hook's pirates (Ryan Batsie and Ruth Hawkins). (Chrissy Roberts)

As the boat arrives, apprehension overcomes the passengers as they enter a new kingdom in The Gondoliers. (Chrissy Roberts)

The goal of the Drama Department is for students to be well rounded in theater.

Theater not only involves drama but also stage design, one-on-one technical training and theater management.

Gulping for water, the Lost Boys fight for the pump in Peter Pan: A Story for the Lost. (Chrissy Roberts)

And they all lived happily ever after. Matt Casburn, Marci Wagnon, Jen Welsh, Michelle Felts, and Garth Eppeley sing in The Gondoliers. (Chrissy Roberts)

Back to back, Second Twin (Tammy Parney) and First Twin (David Schultz) finish each other's sentences. (Chrissy Roberts)

Fascinated by this new person, Tinker Bell (Erin Gabrielson) checks out the sleeping John Darling (Kyle Jaracz). (Chrissy Roberts)

Looking smug, Captain James Hook (Joel Thompson) is carried in by his band of pirates. (Chrissy Roberts)

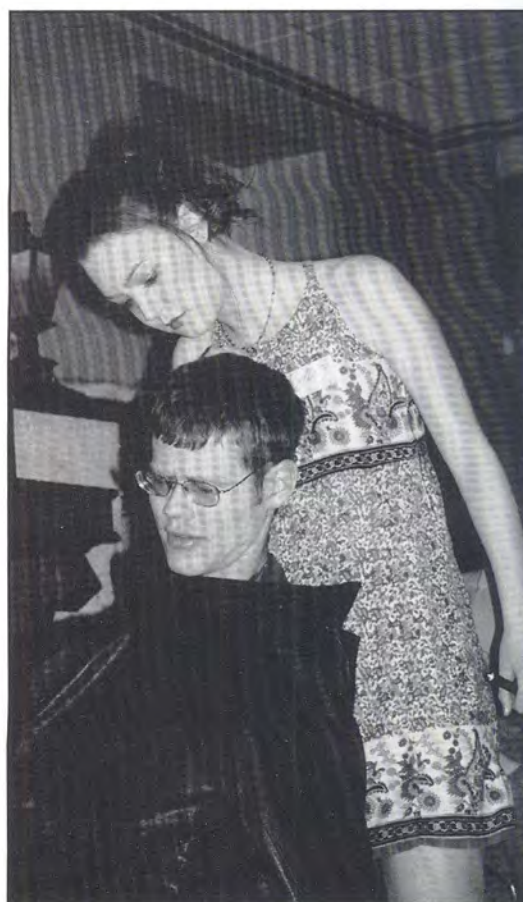

by Taletha Norris

"My favorite memory was during A Midsummers Night's Dream. We were standing backstage during one of the scenes, and all of the sudden, we heard the audience laugh and start to clap. It was almost like a reminder of why we were involved in theatre. Peoples' lives are touched by what God gave us."

Alyssa Goudy

"It has been a goal of mine since I arrived here my freshman year to be the last person to bow in a cast. I am so thankful that I took the bow with such a wonderful character as Puck. That is a memory that will be sketched in my mind for the rest of my life."

Joel Thompson

Break a Leg

Students take the stage and present a season of fairy tales

Cinderella's Prince (Tim Frank) and Rapunzel's Prince (Zack Novak) talk about their ladies in Into the Woods. (photo courtesy of George Abiad)

Betrayed by a kiss, Judas (SuzAnne Bradaric) kisses the cheek of Jesus (Jon Lambert) in the musical Godspell. (Chrissy Roberts)

The cast of Godspell portrays the crucifixion of Christ in the context of the modern world. (Chrissy Roberts)

Robin Goodfellow, a Puck, (Joel Thompson) sneaks up on Peaseblossom (Alyssa Goudy) in the woods of A Midsummer Night's Dream. (Chrissy Roberts)

A Midsummers Nights Dream, Into the Woods, and Godspell were the three productions that took place at Byrum Hall during first semester.

Dancers from the Jordan Academy of Dance at Butler University in Indianapolis joined the cast of Into the Woods.

Caught up in the moment, Hermia (Rachel Westwood) and Lysander (Justin Barnum) entrap a heartbroken Helena (Donqueline Fulp) in A Midsummer Night's Dream. (Chrissy Roberts)

"It was great to work with my fellow cast members in this well-done show."

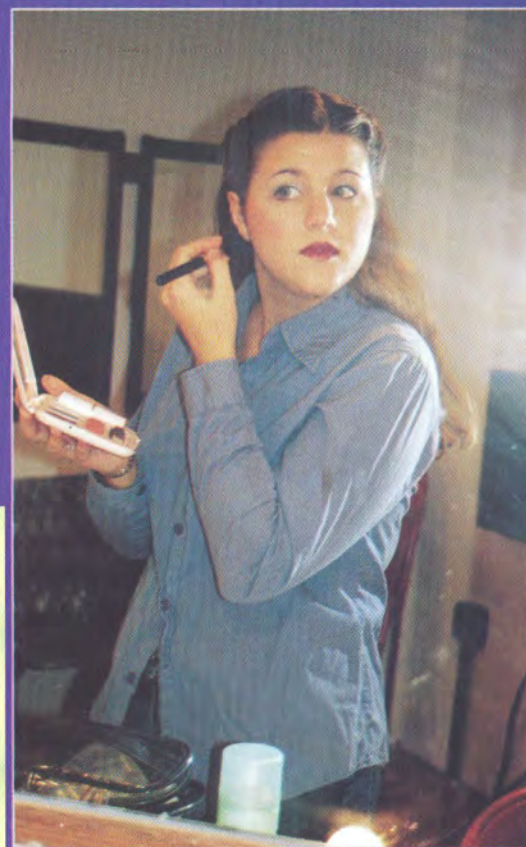

Matt Casburn,
Into the Woods

"Playing Judas was the hardest, most challenging role I've ever had to play because I've never had to betray Jesus before. It was emotionally draining."

SuzAnne Bradaric,
Godspell

"Trying to move around backstage quietly and not hit other cast members with our wings was a real challenge."

Kate Cecil,
A Midsummer Night's Dream

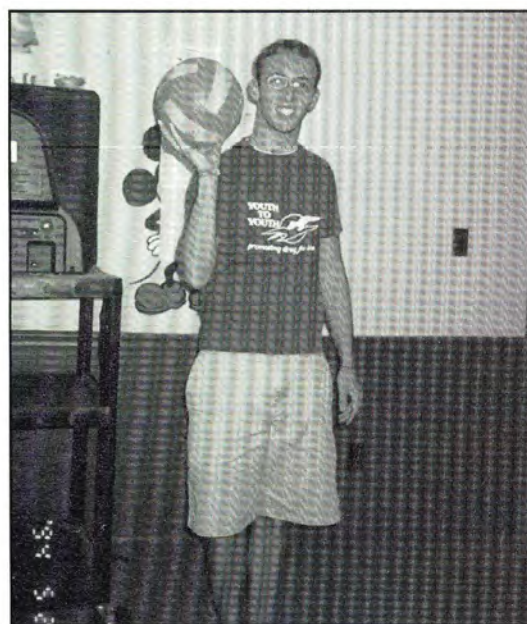

Perfecting her stage makeup, Katie Stull gets ready for her role in Godspell. (Chrissy Roberts)

A Hard Day's Night

Students work around the clock to earn a living

Working as a cashier at Lowe's in Anderson, Cathy Branson gets ready for her next customer. (Megan Golden)

Working in the CAB office may be stressful at times, but there is always time for a little play as Jason Horning shows. (photo courtesy of Melissa Shaul)

Waiting at the back door, Reardon usher Eric Fledderman accepts an attendance card after chapel. (Cherilyn Matthews)

Looking to see if a book is overdue, Terri Kendall works the checkout desk at Nicholson Library. (Cherilyn Matthews)

Each semester, over 900 students hold jobs on campus.

Students must be enrolled in at least six hours of class to be employed on campus.

Jobs are available in almost every campus department.

Reardon employees play on the stage after chapel. (Cherilyn Matthews)

Who's responsible for the sound quality during chapel and concerts at Reardon? That would be Reardon's sound manager, Kevin Cooper. (Cherilyn Matthews)

Collecting the mail for the library can be difficult, but Brendon Matthews makes it easier with the help of a dolly. (Cherilyn Matthews)

What did you say?

by Mandi McCoskey

"My job on campus is more flexible than working off campus might be."
Julia Van Norman

"Working off campus allows for better pay and more opportunities for experience in your field of study."
Gretchen Zuidema

"Working on campus allows for privileges that others do not have, and we get more sleep."
Jason Chalfant

"Working off campus has allowed me to build friendships outside of A.U. and really get to know some people from the community."
Beth Helmerich

Encore

Students showcase their creativity, voice and moves in Agathos' Encore

"All I want for Christmas is YOU!" Cara Rigel, Kami Schwerdtfeger, Kristen Gabrielson, Jen Palmquist and Kami Hines perform the Mariah Carey song. (Megan Golden)

"Grandma got run over by a reindeer!" Brandon Farmer plays the role of "Grandma" while Spencer Blunden, Scott Timberman, Katrina Petre, and Pat Bergquist form a dancing reindeer chorus. (Cherilyn Matthews)

Concentrating on the piece, Steve Scharbrough practices for Christmas Encore. (Cherilyn Matthews)

Giving some directions, Steve Miller, director of Encore, welcomes the audience and points them to open seats at Christmas Encore in the Marketplace. (Megan Golden)

Elvis has not left the building. According to Chris Scherk, "It was such a blast being on stage as Elvis! It was going nuts up there! As the crowd got louder got more crazy! It's fun to be crazy once in awhile. (Cherilyn Matthews)

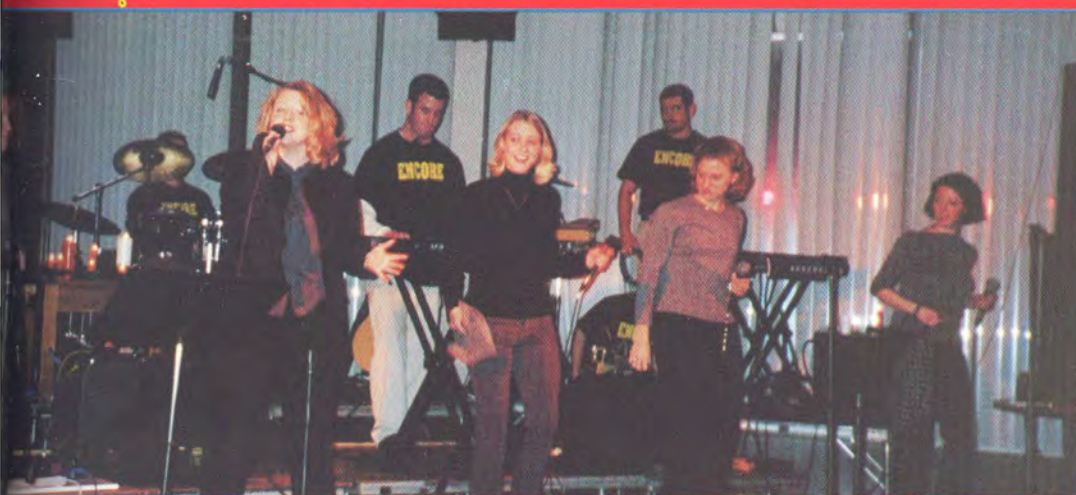

Encore is put on four times a year by the Social Club Agathos.

At every show Agathos' sister club, Eniteo, dresses up for the evening and serves the audience cookies, hot chocolate and soft drinks.

Students showcase their talents with their own selection for the show.

Reminiscing about slap bracelets and Milli Vanilli, Melanie Porter and Pat Bergquist host '80's Encore in Reardon Lobby. (Bethany Frederick)

"Being director of Encore has been the best experience of my college experience. It's so great to start from scratch and watch a good show come to life. I love meeting new people and working with incredibly talented ones who make the show what it is. Who else can see Bohemian Rhapsody and Van Halen's 'Jump' in the same show?"
Steve Miller

"It was so cool to be a part of Christmas Encore. It was neat to bring the real meaning of Christmas on stage while worshipping Christ in a humble way."

What did you say?

by Renee Elsworth

"If people would put as much passion into their relationship with God as they do dating relationships, this world would be a better place!"
Elizabeth Walker

"In all of the busyness of classes and activities, it offers a wonderful diversion to meet new people and do new things. I have yet to be on a bad roommate date. They are all fun!"
Jason Simpson

"We were sitting on the ice more than we were skating on it! We had a blast though."

The Three S's:

Study - Become a world citizen and help bridge cultural divides by learning about other peoples and their customs

Serve - Help build schools and church buildings. Conduct seminars, teach vacation Bible school, or nurse the sick. Minister through song athletics, and more!

Share - Make a difference in someone's life by giving of yourself, your time, and your resources

What did you say?

by Suzanne Haberek

"I think that a spring break trip to London was a great choice. It was so amazing to see places like the Tower of London and Windsor Castle - places I'd only heard of and to see them in person was unreal. My favorite memory was climbing 530 steps to the top of St. Paul's Cathedral and seeing the entire city of London as far as the eye could see."

Meghan Britton

"What I learned in Wisconsin is to look for God in everything I am doing, never ceasing to thank Him for the special people He puts in my life. I also learned to have an intimate relationship with God, not just a relationship. This is something in my heart that is life-changing."

This year was Jerry Grubbs' final year as the Dean of Chapel and Campus Ministries coordinator.

by Mandi McCoskey

"As the work camp coordinator I have been learning about the true nature of God. He was an incredible leader because he was an amazing servant to the people around Him. When we are hauling furniture or building a roof in Jesus' name, I believe God is pleased with our service."

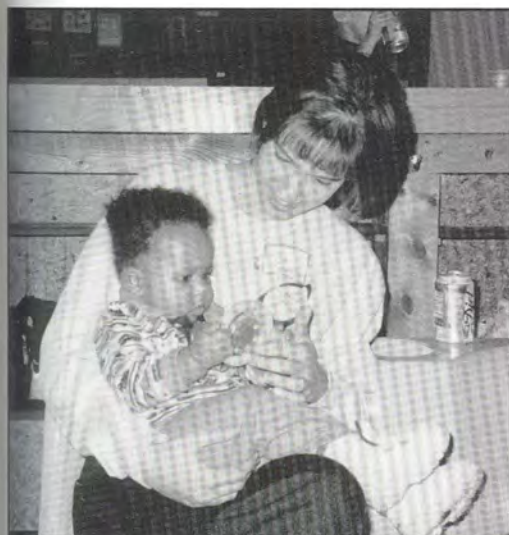

Patrick Bergquist

"My life has been truly blessed by being a part of Campus Ministries and more specifically the Shepherd Center in Indianapolis. Working with inner city children seeing the lack of concrete items in their lives, but very apparent unconditional love amazes me every Saturday that I am there."

by Renee Elsworth

"The most immediate and obvious change seen was how often and where people were talking about how they were challenged by Bart Campolo."

Tim Johnson

"I really like where Campolo quoted 'love your neighbor as yourself.' It hit me that, that's what we need to do in our life — to love each other as God has loved us."

Mike Greenhoe

"I think it would be interesting to have more student input on how to impact your world just because so many students have had various experiences like Tri-S trips."

Jennifer Webb

Vision Revision is an opportunity for faculty, staff and students to express their Christian faith through art, drama, music and literature.

Phyllis Reynolds Naylor, Newberry Medal winner and author of over 80 books including the Shiloh series, was the guest speaker for Vision Revision chapel on Tuesday, March 20.

What did you say?

by Breea Burtch

"We (as a committee) wanted to emphasize the importance of sharing personal experiences.

When we as a community share intimate parts of ourselves with each other, we create a sense of vulnerability that bonds us together."

Sarah Smith,
Vision Revision Coordinator

"The best part about writing is the moment a character comes alive on paper, or when a place that exists only in my head becomes real. There are no bands playing at this moment, no audience applauding - a very solitary time, actually - but it's what I like best."

H.L. Baker

by Jill Noel

What is your best memory of A.U.?

"My best memory relates to my family... this is where I met my wife at Anderson College and both my children graduated from this University."

What do you plan to do after you retire?

"My wife is a Realtor and plans to work a while longer. However, the flexibility in her work will allow us to travel more and spend more time with our children and three grandsons. We intend to live in Anderson and hope to volunteer time to our Church (North Anderson COG) and perhaps at some time the University."

What will you miss the most about A.U./your job?

"I will especially remember relationships I established with the students over my 40 years working in student life. Some of those who attended A.U. are still some of my best friends and we've kept regular contact with many."

What wisdom would you leave to the A.U. community?

"A person's identity should not be wrapped in their work but it does have a lot to do with the sense of contentment and joy. So finding a vocation with purpose is crucial. I also believe all of us should possess a long list because we should never write anyone off... there is hope for everyone in every circumstance."

Jerry Grubbs

by Melissa Mann

What will you miss most?

"What will I miss most about A.U.? Clearly the fantastic students and the many friends and colleagues on this campus."

From students:

"Jerry Grubbs is an amazing man of God. He freely shares his life and thoughts with those around him. He has a servant's heart and a heart to serve this campus and the people on campus. He has been an inspiration to me in my career at AU and will continue to be in my future ministry. He has offered me wise counsel." -Patrick Bergquist

"I have known Jerry for all 3 of the years I have been here and he has been a total blessing to me. He has been an encourager, a bold leader, a servant, and a friend. His great sense of humor can always bring a smile to my face whether we are in the office or at our ministry meetings." -Melissa Briski

Jerry Grubbs has been an important figure on campus for over 28 years. After retirement, Jerry plans on traveling with his wife of 40 years, serving as interim pastor in churches in transition and volunteering time with his favorite mission organization Heart to Honduras. According to Jerry, he will also find time to 'fish-fish-fish.' He can't wait to spend more time with them and his seven grandchildren!

Graduation took place on Saturday, May 12, in Warner Auditorium.

Mrs. Judy O'Bannon, the first lady of Indiana, was the commencement speaker.

Four hundred and fifty degrees were given to students who were members of the 83rd graduating class of Anderson University.

To the Class of 2001:

Good Luck
and God Bless!

"May the Lord keep watch between you and me when we are away from each other."
- Genesis 31:49

"You will be sorely missed, yet gratefully remembered."

Hours of homework, days of lecture and weeks of stress bind us in the pursuit of a higher education. We are students whether we're studying in the library, the valley, the dorms, in front of the television or not at all. We have committed ourselves to education as we strive for our degrees. Our minds and thoughts make us unique, but our identity as students gives us a common ground. And without one another to challenge our thoughts or add to our understanding, our education would not be complete.

Learning for a Lifetime

Hours are spent in classes to prepare for the future

Do you think that your classes this year have prepared you for your career?

"As long as I need to know how Anderson University evolved and which building was named after what person, how to read and make Venn Diagrams, how to write stories about my childhood, and how to speak French, then yes, of course it has."

Kelly Goodman

"Yes, I finally picked a career."

Laura Warthan

"Yes, I think I've learned to be more responsible for myself this year and that will probably be useful for my life."

What was your favorite class this year and why?

"Before taking American Civ. with Dr. (Brian) Dirck, I never liked history. It was boring. But Dirck's energy made history seem exciting.

He really made the historical people and events come alive. It was hard to be bored in his class because he was so enthusiastic about what he was teaching."

Sarah Nowlin

"I think that the best class I had this year was Macroeconomics. That's not because I understood it or enjoyed it, but because of Dr. (Barry) Ritchie. The class was challenging, but he went out of his way to help me out and to make sure that I was understanding what was going on in the classroom. The hours he spent going over assignments with me outside of class really made a difference."

Leading the Way

Faculty and staff work to point students in the right direction

What's the best thing about being a faculty member on AU's campus?

"I look forward to the relationships I build with the students every year. Having small classes gives me the chance to get to know students on a more personal level."

Sharon Collins,
Social Work Department

"I love the atmosphere here at AU. Not only is there a personal side to it, but professional as well. I love the students here!"

Culture Shock

International students learn to adjust to American culture

What shocks you most about American culture?

"It's really diverse and quite permissive on a lot of issues. It has a lot of opportunities for those who work hard."

Laura Litunya, Kenya

"I find it particularly boring, especially in Indiana, which is a conservative state. There's usually nothing to do over the weekends; people stay home and keep to themselves. In my country, people go out over the weekend, whole families go and eat out, they go dancing, they go to the beach or they get together over the weekend to catch up with the gossip."

Dennis Wasonga, Kenya

A Slice of Life

Students experience the world beyond campus with internships and study abroad programs

What did you learn about yourself while studying abroad?

"I began to grasp how little I actually understand and never want to find myself outside of the pursuit of knowledge."

Matt Johnson

"Studying abroad tested my faith, independence and willingness to try new things.
Irreplaceable events and new friendships have changed my outlook on life and who I am as an individual."

How has your internship affected your future career plans?

"My internship helped focus my career goals a little more; I still hope to have a career in the communications field. Through my experience I was able to pinpoint what I want to get out of my career and what I don't want."

Rebecca McCowan

"I will be looking for a job in post production doing Foley work or set decorating in Los Angeles. My internship resulted in a job offer and there are a few other objects in the works."

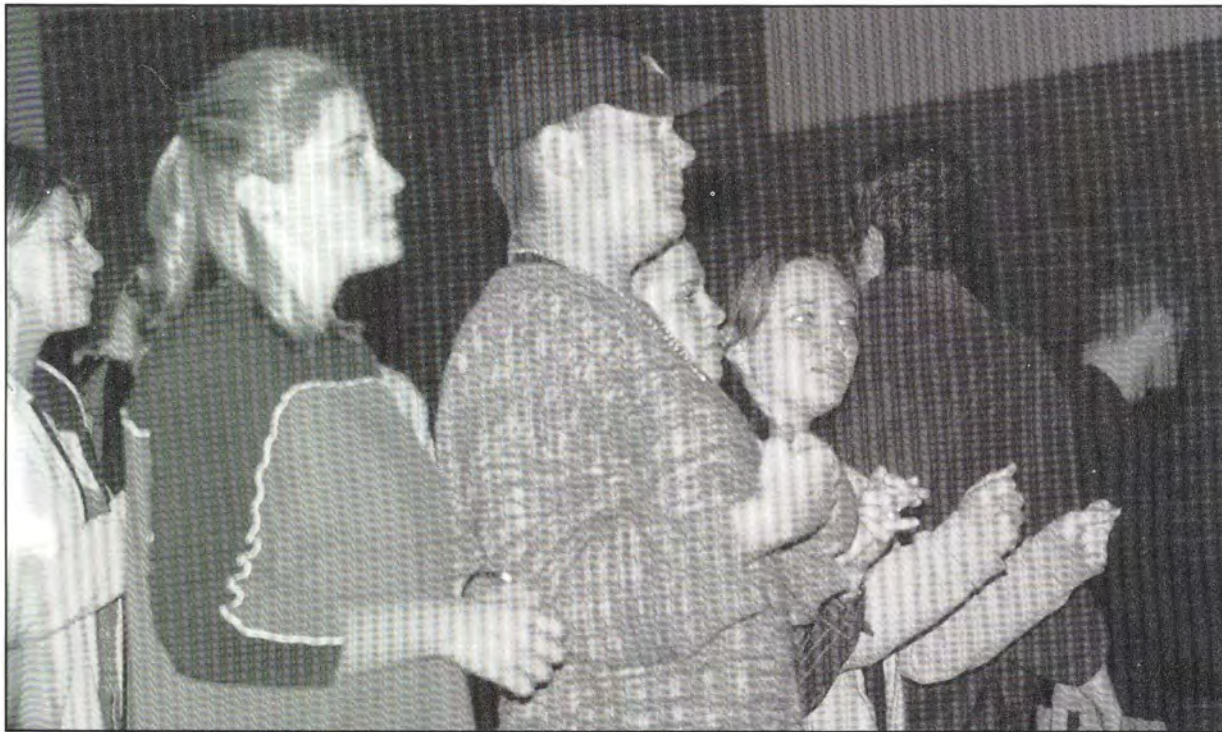

Breea Burtch

"My experience has sparked in me an interest to work for magazines and newspapers in different capacities than I had considered before. Other areas such as design and layout are now very appealing to me."

Amidst the crazy schedules students find ways to study

How do you like to study?

"When I really need to get some studying done I have to study by myself in my room with some music playing softly in the background. I usually study at night starting around seven, unless I have a huge test or project."

Suzanne Phillips

"I'd like to say that I study better under pressure, but the truth is I just procrastinate with the best of them."

Whether you run,
Jump, pass, swing or simply cheer, you are a piece of Raven pride. Season after season, Raven athletics continue the struggle to overcome
their toughest opponents and march on to victory. In the face of defeat, we pick our heads up and continue the battle to obtain the prize. So play and cheer with all your might because your team is counting on you! Your voice is heard from the sidelines, the
stands and the field,
so say it loud and say
it proud. "GO RAVENS!"

Jon Hayhurst - Fort Wayne, IN

Quotes about this year:

"At the beginning of the year, there were high expectations for this young team."

"Sometimes things got a little rough. Benny and I tried to be good examples to the team. We felt very strong about just being ourselves."

"I want to thank everyone who put their time and effort into this program - Coach Fridley, Brad Crumbaugh, Derrick Spires, and President Edwards."

Favorite games:

"Freshman year beating Earlham 1-0. It was one of the greatest victories ever. There was a huge crowd chanting with bongos which lasted for a 90 minutes! We all piled up on each other after the win."

"Beating Bluffton this year because I scored my first goal. That was very special and rewarding."

Ryan Bennison served as one of the team captains this year.

Quotes about this year:

"This was the most fulfilling year I've had since I've been a part of this team."

"The first few weeks were very crucial, considering that the foundation of this team had to be set at the beginning."

"The best part was just being ourselves."

"I believe this [winning the regular season conference championship] is a huge positive direction for AU's soccer program. Coach Fridley deserves a lot of credit. Where he's taken this program is more than anyone can imagine."

"I walked away from this team with no regrets. It was a bittersweet ending. Thanks for a senior year I'll never forget."

Player Highlights

Lauren Clark - Greenfield, IN

Why did you choose to play soccer?

"I loved the sport and wanted to build relationships through the game."

Thoughts on the team's success:

"Although we have had several huge wins, ... our most successful team moments have come when we've been able to get stomped by a team and then refocus, encourage each other and build each other back up, turn our eyes back to the One who gives us the ability to play, and play our hearts out in the next game."

Favorite memory:

"My roommate, Ariana (Horna), and I came to practice several times a season dressed in inappropriate outfits and costumes. The best part about this was waiting for our coach to give us a dirty look, then threaten us with running laps if we didn't get the costumes off!"

Most successful moment:

"I would say both the team's and my most successful moment this season was winning the semi-final game against Hanover in a shootout."

Thoughts on the team:

"As a team we overcame two consecutive losses which came early in the season; however, we continued to improve our record after those games."

Why do you enjoy soccer?

"Playing soccer is my passion. Soccer is competitive and requires great athleticism to be demonstrated. It's a challenge."

Why did you play soccer at AU?

"For me it was important to play for a coach who is a Christian. I talked with soccer coaches at other schools, but they didn't have the spiritual perspective Art Leak has."

Player Highlights

Andrea Hardy - Covington, IN

"You have to be really dedicated because there are practices at six in the morning and also in the afternoon."

Quotes from teammates/coaches:

"Andrea is probably the greatest motivator that I've ever met. She's an awesome captain and asset to the team - not just running, but also her attitude. She tries her hardest every day." — Amber Sigler

"Andrea is one of the hardest workers we've had in the program, and each year she gets stronger." — Coach Larry Maddox

"Andrea is the most encouraging and light-hearted person on the team. She has high expectations for herself, and that is contagious to the others." — Erin Daniels

"Andrea is a really good leader. She leads by example." — Lisa Nicholson

What has been your most exciting game?

"The most exciting game for me would have to be Homecoming of this past 2000 season because it was my final Homecoming as an AU football player, and my parents were able to witness it."

To his teammates:

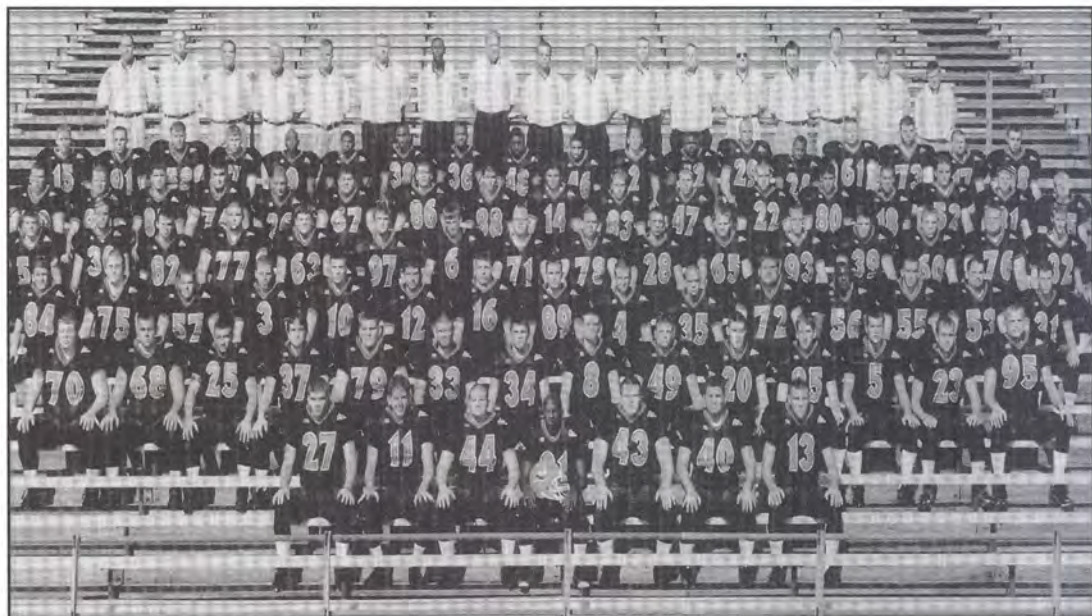

"The only advice I have for my brothers is that next year's season is what you make of it. Next year's success starts now with workouts, conditioning, and most importantly - good grades."

Embarrassing moment:

"On one play my sophomore year, we were playing Bluffton, I was running the football, and I ran into one of my own blockers and fumbled the football."

"What I will miss the most about playing football would have to be, without a doubt, the thrill of the game."

Mickey White - Washington, IN

What has been the most difficult part of playing football?

"Sacrifice may be the most difficult part of playing. Another would be perseverance, pushing on when times were hard with a 0-10 season with no support from anyone except family and teammates."

What have you learned in four years of playing?

"Respect, responsibility, accountability, pride, sacrifice, and dedication."

What will you miss most about playing?

"The relationships that I had with the players and the coaches. There is a special bond that happens in team sports that is unexplainable. That is what I will miss."

"Never underestimate the power of hard work and dedication. Anything can be accomplished if you are willing to work hard enough for it."

How has Coach Allen impacted you over the last four years?

"I owe so much to Coach Allen and the volleyball program here at AU. I have learned to be hard working, goal oriented, ambitious, motivated, pushed, and even humbled. It has forced me to grow as an individual as well as an athlete."

Game memories:

"One of the greatest games that I will remember for a lifetime was when we kicked Kalamazoo College's butt. They had their entire football team there taunting us, and we sure put it to them."

To her teammates:

"Remember that volleyball is a competitive game, and that whatever happens out on the court is supposed to stay on the court."

"I am so glad that I chose to participate in a sport for four years. It is quite rewarding and fulfilling."

"Besides enhancing my skills and making me a better player physically, volleyball stretched me mentally. From this experience I learned how to be disciplined. Balancing volleyball, my relationship with God, my schoolwork, friends, and extra activities was very hard at times."

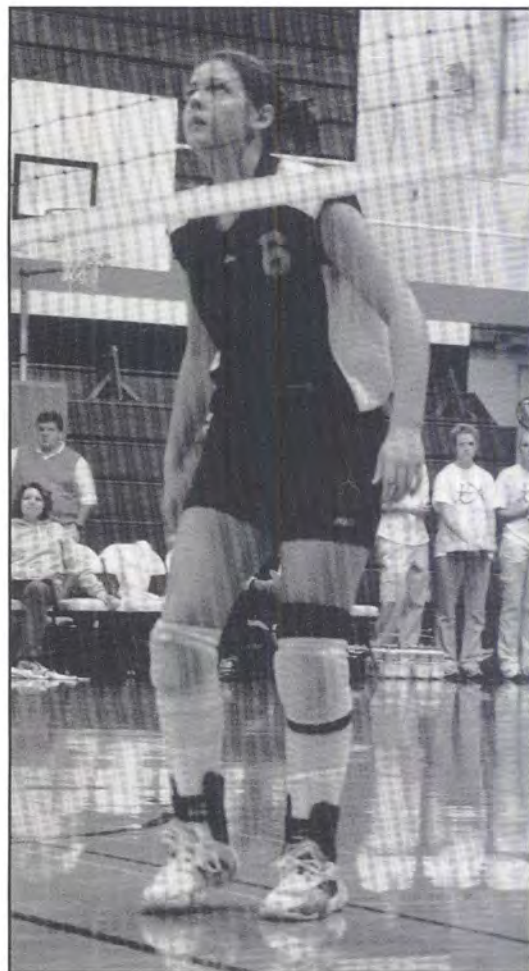

"Most of what I learned by playing volleyball can be applied to the rest of my life and that is what has made this experience so valuable."

To her teammates:

"Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness. Keep a positive, selfless attitude, and give everything you've got each time you're on the court."

"Julie was our best defensive player. She could get to balls that were virtually unplayable. She is one of the scrappiest players I have seen." - Brooke Sutton

"My best memory of tennis was when we won the conference tournament this year. We had set the goals for the year, and we accomplished every one of them."

"I do not really have any great advice; I just want to thank all of my teammates for making this a special year, especially Jevon for being a great doubles partner. I want to thank them for more than just the wins and losses, but for the trips to away matches, Hilton Head, and just getting a chance to hang out with them through the year. Other than that, I just want to tell them to keep working hard because I expect them to bring back another conference championship."

Ardath Miller – Zionsville, IN

"I think the most challenging aspect would be maintaining a strong spiritual life. Too often I let athletics, whether good or bad, interfere with my spiritual life. Sometimes it seems nearly impossible to keep a Christ-like mentality when your season is getting rough."

To her teammates:

"Keep your priorities straight. College basketball has to be something you do, not your whole identity."

From others:

"She is there to support us and focus us. She embodies the phrase, 'In His name, we play.' We will miss her presence next year."

– Christy Clodfelder

"Ardath's biggest contribution has been her work ethic. She hasn't always been healthy, but she's always given everything she has for the team." –Coach Marcie Taylor

Rachel Miller – Anderson, IN

"The game that really sticks out in my mind is when we fell nine points shy of beating Defiance, a team that beat us by 50 points or more at their place. This proved to me that our team was capable of beating anyone in the conference and we will next season."

Embarrassing moment:

"My most embarrassing moment was when I gave the ref a few of my choice words in overtime against Mt. Saint Joseph and got a tech called against me. I couldn't even show my face in practice the next day."

From her teammates:

"Rachel generates tremendous energy and desire in practices and games. She hustles down rebounds, and never plays half-way. She is extremely talented and competitive, a combination that has made her go-to player for us." — Christy Clodfelder

What have you learned during your time involved with track?

"I learned that one of the most important things about a college team is friendship. It is nearly impossible to stay on a team if you don't form relationships with your teammates. Whether it's motivating each other to get through workouts, running over to a friend that wiped out on the pole vault pit or just talking on the bus, friendship is the backbone of any team sport."

What advice would you give to your team?

"Just do your best, others will see it and they'll do the same."

Is there anyone who has influenced you to become a better player?

"Amanda Wright was always concerned with how I was feeling about track on a particular day. She helped me realize that the difficult times would only last for a little while."

What have you learned during your time involved in track here at AU?

"I have learned that giving all your heart, time and dedication pays off in the end."

What will you miss about track?

"I think I'll miss the friends on the team. You spend so much time with one another and have friendships that last."

To her teammates:

"Don't ever let anyone squash your goals. Know what you want to do and strive to achieve it no matter what anyone else says."

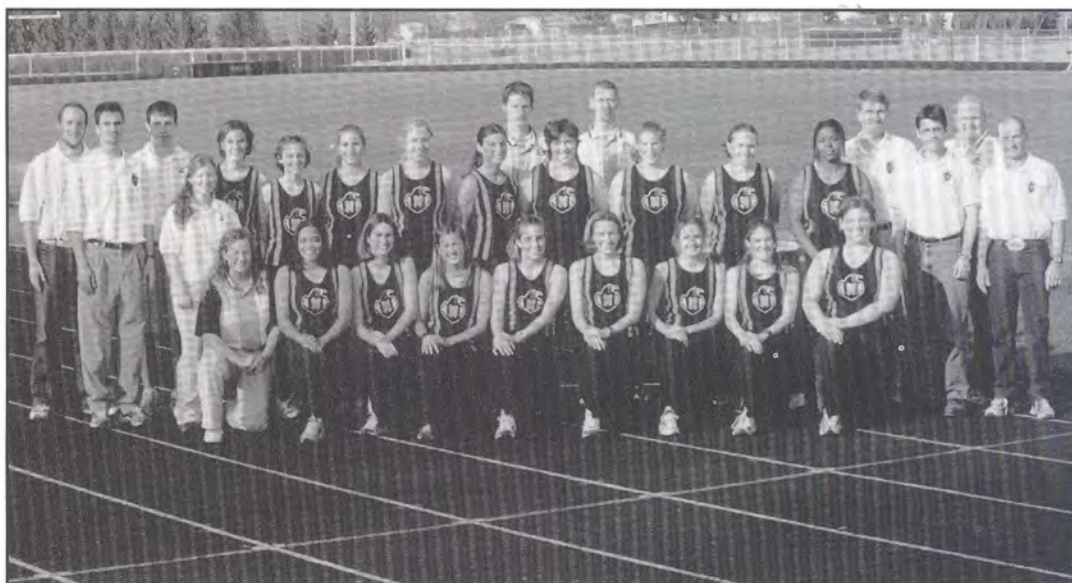

Is there anyone here who has influenced you or helped you become a better player or person?

Why do you run track?

"I am the most competitive person I know, and running has been what I have been the best at since I was a little kid. I have always loved running track and I can't imagine myself not doing it."

What do you like most about the Track Team?

"Although there are many separate groups within a team, we remain close as a team. These are some of the most fun people to be around, and I love getting to know all of the different kinds of people."

What is your motivation?

"I always feel like I have to prove something, more to myself than anyone else. I go into every race nervous about possibly getting beat, but anxious because I expect myself to win."

"The friendships I have made are irreplaceable. I think that friendships with teammates are different from any other friendship a person can have. Not only do you need to depend on that person throughout a normal day, but you also have to learn to trust and depend on your teammates on the field. Not only do you have to have confidence in yourself, but you have to have the same amount, or even more confidence in your teammates, especially in the game of softball. I think I have grown a lot in that aspect of the game. When you play at this level, you have to know what your teammates are thinking, what they are about to do. If you don't, you aren't going to be as successful as you could be. I think this team has great chemistry and team unity. Looking over the past four years, this is definitely one of the closest teams I have been a part of."

Men's Golf looks for a hole-in-one

Player Highlights

Brian Garrett – Muncie, IN

What did you enjoy most about playing golf at Anderson University?

"Definitely the competition at practice and in actual competitions. And the Florida trips."

What advice would you give to your fellow teammates?

"Enjoy golf! Don't beat yourself up over it. That's something I still struggle with."

From his teammates:

"Brian and Ryan (Turner) have made golf fun, and for that I am grateful. They have put in their time and effort, and now it's time for them to go. For that I am saddened, but I appreciate both of them to the utmost. I wish nothing but the best for them in their future endeavors after college."

Advice to teammates:

"Never lose sight of who you really are playing for, and be an example of Christ on the field."

"We raise our own money and share uniforms with the men's team. We have lots of fans and supporters in the community, but as for school support, we give all our thanks to Jim King for being there and praying for us."

Player Highlights

Ben Withers – Carthage, MO

"The highlight of my season came with all of the new faces on the field. We have a lot of heart and a lot of talent and should be a great team."

"I have learned that you can never stop and never give up. It is the hardest sport on earth, and although I have occasionally hurt my body, my soul and my heart are better for it."

"Without a doubt Frank Eaton has impacted me the most. He is an awesome Christian and has a tremendous love for the game. He is one of my closest friends, and I am glad that I got to know him. He is the toughest player I have ever played with."

Advice to teammates:

"Pray before, during, and after a game, no matter who is winning. God is the greatest asset you can have on the field."

There is a place where you belong. You are a part of the activities, you are a leader, you're in a club or organization. Campus wide organizations offer places within majors, beliefs, talents and interests. These organizations build unity, increase knowledge and add to our social lives. They make Anderson University more diverse and more involved. Organizations provide places to express ourselves mentally, spiritually, physically and emotionally. Each club is unique, but each is a part of our community.

~SGA encompasses the entire student government structure, which is divided into the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial branches

Reading scripture, Erin Moss opens an SGA chapel with the Word of God. (Cherilyn Matthews)

"The most influential thing that senate has done this year has definitely been Project Money Fund. It has gotten our name out publicly so more students know what's going on, it has gotten more things done on campus, and has gotten senate more actively involved in the students' life." ~Lucas Rayburn

"Freshmen don't always get represented well because most students either don't realize who their representatives are or else when they have a problem they don't think to come to SGA. That's why we're creating comment boxes and display cases designed to help out with things like that." ~Robbyn Perdue

"Student government gives students a voice so that the administration can hear what they feel about issues and figure out what to do to help in certain areas." ~Kyle Perkins

"Communication is always an issue in student government to make the lines to students as efficient as possible. We are establishing an e-mail account so students can send concerns and questions. We are also working on a nice brochure to tell people who we are and what we do." ~Nathan Rodgers

"We have appointed more SGA students to more committees this year than in previous years, which allows the student body to be heard and represented." ~Steve Davis

Looking Forward...

"I hope that YFC continues to gain recognition within the community and on campus. I hope that people who volunteer for this ministry in the future recognize what a powerful thing it can be in the lives of kids. I also hope that our chapter continues to grow and place more emphasis on programming." ~Justin Kauffman Best experience...

"My best experience is getting to know the kids...when they open up and share their problems it's really touching. Knowing that they trust us that much means a lot." ~Sarah Morley

by Jill Noel

"Young Life is a nondenominational ministry to young people. Leaders focus on building relationships with high school students. It is out of this relationship that we are able to share Christ with them."

Mostly it is about sharing Christ's love with kids who are hurting and searching and do not know where to turn."

Model United Nations

"I chose Model UN because I wanted to experience what international negotiation and problem-solving was like. I also thought it would be fun to be an actor portraying a representative from a different country and feel like I was a 'world player.' I wanted to learn more about how the UN worked and what its function was in world politics." ~Mason Hutcheson

"The major event for Model UN is a conference held at Harvard University in February. We had one student, Avik Bhattacharya, who was presented with the Outstanding Delegate Award."

"It was great to get our charter back. It's been a long time coming, and we hope to give people a more positive image of Sachem. It's great to be able to wear those sweet, sweet letters around campus again. Oh, and one more thing...WE'RE BACK!"
~Ben Harbor

"Our goal for the future is to promote AU physically, spiritually, socially, and academically in a positive and orderly fashion. We want to be respected role models on campus."
~Kris Scrimager

Sachem Activities

Sachem had their charter reinstated during first semester and worked to reestablish their image second semester.

"Right now we do not have regular events that we participate in or sponsor, since we just received our charter back last semester."

Xenos/ Amici

Growing stronger and closer,
these clubs make an impact

"I believe Xenos is so unique because of the different personalities that we all have. But then when we all get together we have a good time and get along with each other. Xenos was a great experience and I'll never forget the great times we all had. Zi Theta Chi is forever!"

By Taletha Norris

"My favorite service project was when we all went out and bought toys for children and then wrapped them and took them to the hospital so that the children in the hospital would have toys for Christmas." ~Randy Dickey

"For me, this year's most memorable experience for Amici is when we got together this semester at our sponsor Mike Collette's house. He opened up his home to all of us and cooked us supper. It was a great time to get off campus and enjoy each other for the night." ~Greg Nicholson

Lending a Helping Hand, These Clubs Reach Out to the Community

L'Amifidel entertains the campus with a song during All-Club Chapel. (Cherilyn Matthews)

"The reasons why I chose to rush L'Ami was its Christ-centered focus and service. I like knowing that everyone's equal." ~Brooke Randolph

"I truly believe that L'Ami has uncovered the secret to a strong club and has become an inspiration to those who desire change. The girls are incredible, and I have loved every aspect since the beginning." ~Amanda Sheets

Fun, Fellowship and Service are a part of Club Activities

"Rush was a real struggle for me. I cried the whole time, but I'm so glad that I joined because I've met so many wonderful girls, and I feel like I know everyone really well. Club every week is a real stress reliever for me."

~Cara Warfield

"We had a unique blend of officers this year. We didn't always get a lot of stuff done at officers' meetings because we were too busy telling our stories and secrets to each other!"

~Catie Sole

"Dativus has seen some ups and downs this year. The way we've handled these mountains and valleys is what makes our club so great. I'm proud to be a member." ~Robbie Baxter

"I always look forward to going to club because it's where my friends will be. The thing is, I probably wouldn't have picked all of these friends on my own, but I'm fortunate that club presented a way to get to know them. I've grown close to many, and I would have missed out on that without Dativus."

People

"Just as each of us has one body with many members, and these members do not all have the same function, so in Christ we who are many form one body, and each member belongs to all the others."

~Romans 12:4-5

We each have a physical appearance as a person, but we are more than just that. Our personalities make us a unique and valuable part of this community. The real person comes shining through the physical when we laugh, cry, scream or dance. We depend on one another for comfort, encouragement, fun and memories that will last a lifetime and leave impressions on the hearts of those around us.

Now that I'm a junior I realize that we're all just big dorks and that it is always pointless to be all flirty and dumb as a freshman. It doesn't get you anything but a reputation as a ditz or worse! "Sophomore year was, for me in a way, a wake up call. The thrills of dorm life and independent life wore off, and I was forced to confront the strenuous work ahead of me and plan for my 'future' without some of the newness and spontaneity of freshman year. But at the same time, I loved walking across campus and saying 'hi' to so many more people than last year. The strong friendships I built my sophomore year and the privilege I had of meeting so many wonderful people at Anderson made my sophomore year a truly great one, even amongst the challenges."

Interdependent

"But in fact God has arranged the parts of the body, every one of them, just as He wanted them to be. If they were all one part, where would the body be?"

-1 Corinthians 12:18-19

As proclaimed by the crest of Anderson University, "Veritas, Fidelitas, Utilitas" - meaning "Truth, Loyalty, Usefulness" - remind us that individual things are important, but mean much more when they are dependent on others.
(Kate Timmons)

A group of students listen to each other and their professor during an outdoor class in the warm spring weather. (Bethany Frederick)

Bagpipes play as a group of students gather on the front lawn of Morrison Hall for the Easter sunrise service. (Cherilyn Matthews)

Interdependent ... a mutual dependence or reliance on several things. Each aspect of Anderson University could stand on its own. There could be only academics. We could gather solely for the competition of sports. It could all be social and nothing more. But then it would not be the university that it is. Each of those parts play a role, and as they intertwine and depend on each other, we will find the essence of our community. We must be interdependent as we weave our lives together in this place and with those who surround us and create the body of Christ.

We hope you have enjoyed the 2001 Echoes yearbook! Love,
Megan Golden and Bethany Frederick

Over this past year, as I have stressed over and worked on this book, I have come to find that the whole theme of interdependence is one that fits into my life. I could make it on my own, but what good would that do me. Yes, I could have produced a yearbook single handedly, but it would have been no where near what it is because of my amazing team. I can stand as an individual, but I still need those around me. And more than that I need the Lord! As independent as I strive to be, there will always be interdependence in my life because I need others to make me a better person.

Those others have meant the world to me this year and I would like to thank them for all they have done. First, to my Lord and Savior: Jesus your love and grace never ceases to amaze me! Thank you for holding me in your arms as I stumble through this journey. You are the reason I live!

To Dr. Murphy: Thank you for being there to guide me first semester when neither of us really knew what we were doing. Your encouragement, accountability and trust really pushed me in the right direction.

To David Baird: You are an awesome advisor. Thank you for all you do! The trust and faith that you put in me this year has meant more than you could ever know. Thank you for allowing me the freedom to make this book what I envisioned and for being there to take care of the details.

To Debbi Strack: Thank you for the candy, encouragement and knowledge that you brought my way. And thank you for making yourself so available to me!

To Carol Swan: You are an amazing woman of God and I honestly would not have completed this book without you! Your cheerful and encouraging spirit brightened my every day. Thank you for believing in me and supporting me. Thank you for taking care of so many of the business aspects and for never being too busy to listen! I love you, Carol and may the Lord continue to show you His amazing strength.

To Bethany: We did it! It's okay for you to quit now! Thank you for putting up with my randomness and disorganization. Thank you for keeping me on track and all the support you've given me this year. I could not have done it without you and I'm so thankful for the friendship we've formed by taking on this project together!

To Chrissy and Cherilyn: Thank you for putting up with my last minute messages and for putting things aside to make sure that we got those events covered! You both are amazing people and photographers!

To Maegen, Rachel, Cathy and all the rest of you who listen to my complaints gave me quotes and pictures in my moments of desperation and who accompanied me to Meijer at all hours of the day and night and got writers cramps from helping me fill out those film packets: Thank you for putting up with me through the stress and deadlines and for helping me to keep my sanity. You are the best friends a girl could have and I love you!

To the staff writers: You guys rock! Thanks for all the fun times we had during our meetings and for all of your hard work, help and encouragement.

To those of you who read our pleas in Stall Talk and donated pictures: You made this book more complete and for that I am thankful!

To Rebecca McCowan and Michelle Robertson: Thanks for your wisdom and guidance and encouraging words. You are amazing!

To Spencer Blunden: You're a great computer guy and yes, the yearbook staff does start working before April!

To Katherine Paschal: Thanks for helping me to keep my focus on the fact that I can do ALL things through Christ and that includes this deadline! Your encouragement, faith and support were true blessings in my life.

Thank you for being a part of this with me and for sharing the memories of the 2000-2001 year. I hope you have enjoyed this book even more than I have enjoyed putting it together.

In His Grace,
Megan Golden
